

An EU Budget to address the Climate Emergency: How to fund a Green New Deal for Europe

Preliminary Conference Agenda

Science 14: Rue de la Science 14, Brussels, 15 October 2019

This conference will explore how the EU Budget can be used to address the climate emergency and respond to public concerns following scientists' demands for climate action – most recently expressed in the 'green wave' at the EU elections. The next EU Multiannual Financial Framework (MFF) is still being negotiated and some key decisions that will affect how EU funds drive climate change mitigation are still open. Furthermore, the implementation of the EU budget – via national and regional strategies, plans, programmes and projects – will be a key tool for shaping our climate future. This conference brings together:

- A political debate on how the future EU budget should respond to the climate crisis;
- A session exploring lessons from past EU spending and governance, as well as identifying future needs;
- A Stakeholder panel debate on what actions can be launched, what windows of opportunity remain, and how the European Institutions and civil society can work together to respond to the climate crisis.

Civil Society Capacity Building Session Agenda

Science 14: Rue de la Science 14, Brussels, 15 October 2019 - 14:00 to 17:30

This capacity building workshop builds on the morning conference and aims to bring together civil society organisations from different EU Member States to gather feedback and recommendations on the topic. The aim of the afternoon session is to:

- Discuss jointly advocacy strategies that could ensure that future funding goes where money is needed to address climate change,
- Examine in depth climate and sustainability proofing tools, as well as the role of CSOs in the “programming” stage.
- Explore what kind of communications strategies could bring forward CSO’s messages and enhance the impact
