

When Clean Energy Plays Dirty: Decarbonisation and the Struggle for a Just Transition

Report coming soon.

The EEB will publish four reports in the coming four months that together shed more light on the emerging issues of energy justice, raw materials, low carbon projects and the right to say no. Communities all over the EU and far beyond the borders of the continent are affected by green extractivism.

If you would like to receive an email notification each time one of these reports is launched, leave your email address here. We may also use your email address to inform you of launch events associated with these reports. For more information - please contact Diego Francesco Marin.
